Scotland is a beautiful country with mountains, lakes, castles and exciting cities. Here are some things you can do and see there.

The Highlands

Scotland is divided into two parts - the Highlands and the Lowlands. The north of Scotland is called the Highlands. There are lots of mountains there, but there aren't many people. It's a beautiful area and there are lots of interesting things to do. You can hire a mountain bike and go cycling in the mountains. You can visit a historic castle, sleep in a haunted room or see Loch Ness. It is 32 km long, 5 km wide, and very, very deep. In Scotland, there is a popular legend about a monster. The monster lives in Loch Ness, near the town of Inverness. The monster's name is Nessie. People say that she is very big, and that she has got a long neck, like a snake.

The cities

The Lowlands are in the south of Scotland. 70% of Scottish people live in towns and cities in this area. Edinburgh and Glasgow are the two biggest cities. The capital, Edinburgh, is on the east coast. Millions of people visit Edinburgh in August because of its famous music and theatre festivals. Edinburgh has also got lots of famous historic buildings. Edinburgh Castle is more than 900 years old. It's on a hill and you can see all the city from its walls.

The islands

Scotland has got 790 islands, but people only live on 96 of them. The major island groups are the Hebrides, the Orkneys and the Shetlands. The Shetlands are nearer to Norway than Scotland! The islands are fantastic for nature lovers. There are lots of rare plants and animals. Seals are very common, but you can also see whales, dolphins and eagles.

The weather

Scotland is generally colder and wetter than the rest of the UK. In winter, temperatures can be very low and there's often snow on the mountains. Good times to visit are late spring and summer.
